I. Course Catalog Description

Legal and regulatory compliance is a critical consideration for all business activities in the United States. Learners examine the relationships among individuals, partnerships, and corporations, as they apply to law. Contracts, consumer law, and the legalities of employer-employee relationships are examined. Legal considerations relevant to global initiatives are explored. Prerequisite: HUM 201. Prior study of professional communication recommended.

II. Required and Supplementary Instructional Materials

Cross, Frank. (2015). The legal environment of business: text and cases (9th ed.). Stamford, CT: Cengage Learning.

III. Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes describe the knowledge, skills, values, and attitudes that learners gain as the result of a particular learning experience. Southwestern College Professional Studies has learning outcomes specific to each program of study that are in line with the institutional outcomes of critical thinking, ethical reasoning, leadership, communication, and career preparation. Course outcomes support program outcomes and are listed below.

Upon successfully completing this course, the learner will be able to:

1. Explain the origins and philosophy of the basic foundations of law as they apply to the function of business.
2. Differentiate legal principles and procedures specific to different forms of business organizations.
3. Distinguish among the major types of laws (e.g. contract, property, consumer, sales, and employment) relevant to the business environment and their impact on business strategies and operations.
4. Assess the role of ethics in various aspects of law, including employer-employee, consumer and corporate business structures, and contracts.
5. Evaluate the impact of the Internet on business law, including e-commerce, e-contracts, e-signatures, and digital banking.
6. Analyze the role laws play in the corporate and financial sectors of business, including acquisitions, investors and shareholders, and bankruptcy.
7. Summarize the legal considerations relevant to global initiatives and making decisions.

At the end of the course, learners may vary in their ability to achieve these outcomes. You are more likely to achieve these outcomes only if you attend class and/or online activities as required by the syllabus, complete the requirements for all assignments to the best of your ability, participate actively in class activities and group work as directed, and study diligently for exams.
