

Healthcare Marketing and Development

HCA405

Southwestern College Professional Studies

COURSE SYLLABUS

I. Course Catalog Description

A major challenge for marketing healthcare services is the diversity of customers for the same types of services with differing expectations. Learners study marketing theories, strategies, ethics, legal requirements, and practices applied to multiple healthcare markets including consumers, referral agents, and payers. Learners also explore marketing to and making application for funding from organizations and individuals that grant or donate funds to underwrite services for populations with limited or no financial resources. Prerequisites: HCA 280 and HUM 201. Prior study of professional communication recommended.

II. Required and Supplementary Instructional Materials

Cellucci, Leigh W., Wiggins, Carla, and Farnsworth, Tracy J. (2014). Healthcare marketing: a case study approach (1st ed.). Chicago, IL: Health Administration Press.

III. Course Delivery

There are two forms of course delivery Ground and Online:

Ground courses, or those that meet face-to-face on a weekly basis, also have an online component, which means some of the course content is delivered online. Southwestern College utilizes the Blackboard (Bb) learning management system.

Online courses typically contain a blend of synchronous (real-time) and asynchronous (not real-time) material. Depending on the course, you may be required at times to interact "live," which might mean attending a scheduled Collaborate session. You may also be required to view or listen to a lecture or other video on a specific date and time. Of course, if there are circumstances that prohibit you from logging in to a scheduled synchronous activity, an alternate assignment will be provided. Please refer to the Course at a Glance section which will note any synchronous activities.

IV. Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes describe the knowledge, skills, values, and attitudes that learners gain as the result of a particular learning experience. Southwestern College Professional Studies has learning outcomes specific to each program of study that are in line with the institutional outcomes of critical thinking, ethical reasoning, leadership, communication, and career preparation. Course outcomes support program outcomes and are listed below.

Upon successfully completing this course, the learner will be able to:

1. Distinguish among the different types of customers (e.g. consumers, payers, employers, and public and private funding sources) and their respective expectations for healthcare services and their delivery.
2. Explain strategic decision-making models and methods for healthcare marketing with consideration of the complexity of customer relationships from both the provider and payer organization perspectives.
3. Assess potential market research methods for each of the different types of customers.
4. Evaluate marketing strategies and methods as they pertain to the different types of customers, with consideration for ethical best practices and legal and regulatory requirements.

5. Describe the role of marketing in making application for and securing funding from public and private sources.
6. Recommend comprehensive marketing strategies for healthcare provider and payer organizations.

At the end of the course, learners may vary in their ability to achieve these outcomes. You are more likely to achieve these outcomes only if you attend class and/or online activities as required by the syllabus, complete the requirements for all assignments to the best of your ability, participate actively in class activities and group work as directed, and study diligently for exams.

XVI. Senior Capstone and Graduate Projects:

The majority of the programs offered by Southwestern College Professional Studies conclude with a Senior Capstone or Graduate Project. During the Capstone or Project course students will be required to retrieve papers, assignments and projects that they created during their entire program of study. For this reason it is imperative that students design a method of storing program course work for use during their final class at Southwestern College Professional Studies.
