Pathophysiology

MASC 395 Southwestern College Professional Studies

COURSE SYLLABUS

I. Course Catalog Description

This is a foundational course in the study of physiologic and pathologic concepts of human homeostasis and alterations in homeostasis. It focuses on rationales for adaptations of human functioning to stressors and altered health states. This course provides a basis for understanding alterations in human functioning imposed by disease processes so that application to understanding clinical presentations can be made. Anatomy and Physiology and other supplementary science courses may provide a foundational knowledge base for this course. 3 credit hours

II. Required and Supplementary Instructional Materials

Porth, C.M. (2015). Essentials of pathophysiology: concepts of alteres health states. (4th ed). Philadelphia: Wolters Kluwer (online text in Blackboard course)

American Psychological Association. (2010). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association. (6th ed.). Washington, DC: Author.

III. Course Delivery

There are two forms of course delivery Ground and Online:

Ground courses, or those that meet face-to-face on a weekly basis, also have an online component, which means some of the course content is delivered online. Southwestern College utilizes the Blackboard (Bb) learning management system.

Online courses typically contain a blend of synchronous (real-time) and asynchronous (not real-time) material. Depending on the course, you may be required at times to interact "live," which might mean attending a scheduled Collaborate session. You may also be required to view or listen to a lecture or other video on a specific date and time. Of course, if there are circumstances that prohibit you from logging in to a scheduled synchronous activity, an alternate assignment will be provided. Please refer to the Course at a Glance section which will note any synchronous activities.

IV. Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes describe the knowledge, skills, values, and attitudes that learners gain as the result of a particular learning experience. Southwestern College Professional Studies has learning outcomes specific to each program of study that are in line with the institutional outcomes of critical thinking, ethical reasoning, leadership, communication, and career preparation. Course outcomes support program outcomes and are listed below.

Upon successfully completing this course, the learner will be able to:

- 1. Demonstrate an understanding of pathophysiology and the essential features of cellular function.
- 2. Analyze pathophysiological processes involved in the development of cardiovascular disorders.
- 3. Explain the physiological basis for signs and symptoms of respiratory disorders.
- 4. Differentiate the pathophysiological process of various disorders affecting the renal system.
- 5. Analyze the differences between various disease processes affecting the gastrointestinal system.
- 6. Evaluate the effect of various endocrine disorders on the human body.

- 7. Examine the pathophysiological processes of cancer and other disorders affecting the immune system.
- 8. Analyze the pathophysiological process of various disorders affecting the male and female reproductive systems.
- 9. Differentiate between various disorders affecting the neurological system.
- 10. Examine the relationship between disease processes affecting the musculoskeletal system.
- 11. Develop critical thinking skills by submitted written, visual and oral presentations.

At the end of the course, learners may vary in their ability to achieve these outcomes. You are more likely to achieve these outcomes only if you attend class and/or online activities as required by the syllabus, complete the requirements for all assignments to the best of your ability, participate actively in class activities and group work as directed, and study diligently for exams.

V. Expectations

Learners can expect the instructor to:

- Respond to e-mail and phone contact attempts promptly (if you do not receive a response after 48 hours please follow-up as a technology glitch may have occurred)
- Substantially participate in weekly discussions/lecture
- Employ impartial and consistent grading practices
- Provide assignment grades and feedback in one week or less

Instructors can expect the learner to:

- Review the syllabus in its entirety requesting clarification prior to beginning week 1 coursework
- Obtain access to the required course materials prior to the class start date or notify the instructor of any delay no later than Tuesday of week 1 of the course
- Submit course assignment questions with enough notice to receive and incorporate feedback prior to the assignment due date (see course late policy)

XVI. Senior Capstone and Graduate Projects:

The majority of the programs offered by Southwestern College Professional Studies conclude with a Senior Capstone or Graduate Project. During the Capstone or Project course students will be required to retrieve papers, assignments and projects that they created during their entire program of study. For this reason it is imperative that students design a method of storing program course work for use during their final class at Southwestern College Professional Studies.
